WAS DOUBLING UP ON LIFE

Small Girl's Unfortunate Remembrance of Mother's Remark Caused Embarrassment.

Col. George Harvey said at a banquet in his honor in New York: "We editors like criticism, especially when it is of the very favorable kind that I've received this evening. But not all criticism is favorable, even for the most successful editors. A good many editors, in fact, often find themselves in the position of the rich old broker whose little grand-niece said:

"Uncle, how long do people live?" "The natural span of man's life," the uncle answered, "is, as the Good Book tells us, three score years and ten."

"Oh, then you'll live to be one hundred and forty, won't you, uncle?" "The old man looked around the room crowded with relatives and laughed heartily.

"Why, no," he said. "Why, no. How do you make that out?" "Isn't it true, then," said the little girl—"Isn't it true what mamma says about you living a double life?"—Washington Star.

Tough Luck. "You remember that chap Jones who made a bet of ten thousand dollars that he would walk from San Francisco to New York without a cent in his pocket?"

"Yes. Did he win the bet?" "Not quite. He got as far as Philadelphia, and there he was arrested as a vagrant and forced against his will to ride three blocks in a patrol wagon. That disqualified him."

They Always Look It. Biggs—There goes Stonyfellows, the multimillionaire. He's a self-made man.

Mrs. Biggs—Well, anyone can see at a glance that he isn't tailor-made.

And So It Is. "What do you consider the greatest human paradox?"

"A secret session of a woman's club."

Deserves It. "Heavens! The mob will tear that man to pieces! Can't something be done to stop them?" "Let 'em alone. The man they're trying to lynch is the chap who invented the installment plan of selling books."

Her Own Business. A woman mounted the steps of the elevated station carrying an umbrella like a reversed saber. An attendant touched her lightly, saying: "Excuse me, madam, but you are likely to put out the eye of the man behind you."

"He's my husband!" she snapped calmly.

Twenty Cents Out. "I made an awful break yesterday," said the fellow who is known as a tightwad. "That is unusual for you. How did it happen?" asked the man in whom he was about to confide. "I met Lulu in front of an ice cream parlor, and I told her that her lips were like strawberries. She said the only way to prove it was by making the comparison, so I had to blow her to a strawberry sundae."

Insulted the Mayor. A company had opened a new swimming bath in the place, and as a compliment sent a free ticket to the mayor.

That worthy man was very pleased. But he began to wonder when another ticket arrived.

Sitting down, he wrote to the bath proprietors as follows: "Gentlemen: Your first ticket I received as a compliment. Your second strikes me as being rather suggestive. If you send me a third I will take it as a personal insult."

Sure Thing. Hostess—Sh! that's my neighbor's dog. Be careful what you say about that woman. Fair Guest—Why that's silly. Dog's can't understand. Hostess—No, but they carry tails.—Philadelphia Record.

Regular Answer. Teacher—Now, I want one of you to give me a sentence using the three simple tenses. Johnnie—Don't think of the future until the present is past.

The Sphinx on Natation. The Sphinx propounded a riddle. "How many girls would swim out beyond the danger line if the life guard was a woman?" she asked.

The more prominent the man, the more likely the doctors are to diagnose his old age as rheumatism.

Mine Foreman Had Particular Reason for Patronizing Sawyer's Place on His "Vacation."

Among the old miners of Siskiyou county a man can get worse whisky at Sawyer's bar than in any other place on earth. This is the belief of the gold-diggers of that section, and that faith is accepted as orthodox, says the San Francisco Call.

Regularly every Christmas Billy X, foreman of the Oro Fino mine, takes his layoff down at Sawyer's. Once the superintendent asked him why he always selected that place for his vacation.

"I want to have one yearly drunk," said Billy, "and I want to know just when I am drunk, so that I may enjoy the sensation."

"Well, can't you enjoy the sensation in any other portion of the county or state or continent?" asked the superintendent.

"No. When I'm drinking Sawyer's whisky and it begins to taste good, then I know I'm drunk."

Raw Material. "Did you hear about Scribbler?" The police caught him walking out of a hotel writing room with about ten dollars' worth of the hotel stationery under his coat. "What did he have to say for himself?"

"Said he was gathering material for a novel."

Hopeless. Maud—I said to Jack that I wasn't going to return his ring until I got one from another man. Ethel—He told me he never expected to get it back.

Equitable Division. "Did you divide the cruller as I told you with your little brother?" "Yee, ma. I gave him the hole."

ROAD BUILDING

ROAD BUILDING IN OKLAHOMA

Educational Movement to Reach Country Boy Through Rural Schools—Plan of Colonel Suggs.

The good road educational movement is to reach the country boy in Oklahoma through the rural schools, as the result of advocacy of such a plan by Col. Sidney Suggs of Ardmore, state highway commissioner, who has secured the indorsement and co-operation, not only of Robert H. Wilson, the state superintendent of public instruction, but also of the officials of the State Agricultural college at Stillwater.

"When the federal government had spent many thousands of dollars to encourage scientific farming," says Colonel Suggs, "and when so few farmers adopted the methods advanced, the officials changed their base of operations. They went after the boy. They sought to teach new methods to the older people through the medium of the boy on the farm. The government planned well. The idea has resulted in revolutionizing agriculture.

"This is what caused me to appeal to the boys in the interest of good roads. My plan is to have every rural school lay out a stretch of good road, from a quarter to a half mile in length, leading from the schoolhouse, to plant fruit trees on either side and to improve the road. I believe that one such piece of model road in each community will arouse so much interest and so much pride that communities will vie with each other in road improvement.

"In this manner, having the hearty co-operation of the state superintendent of public instruction, an educational campaign can be started in the schools of our state that in time will become a most important factor and be the means of perfecting the consolidated rural school system throughout the state. I sincerely believe that as much interest can be aroused, and as many benefits brought to the young people as are coming to them through the state-wide movement of the organization of clubs to promote the growing of corn. The two movements will at least harmonize, and neither will be in the way of the other.

"The plan, as now outlined, is to organize a good road and tree-planting club in every rural school in the state, have the county or the state highway engineer visit the schools, following the organization of the clubs, and proceed to lay out one-fourth or one-half mile of road leading from the schoolhouse. In every instance the school club shall assist in the survey, the laying out of the road, in securing the easements from the abutting property owners. The club boys shall carry the chain, set the grade stakes, the drainage stakes, learn just how plans and profits are made, and be taught that this piece of good road will be used for generations to come.

"The club members shall be included, while the road is actually being built, when it is properly drained, graded and crowned, how culverts are placed; what the size of culverts should be, according to the topography of the surrounding country. After the road is completed it can be kept up through the use of a light wooden drag at a nominal cost, and this work should also be done by the boy club members."

Important Question. From an economic standpoint, good roads constitute the most important question of government now before the people.

Have Stable Floors Even. Keep the stable floors even. Standing on uneven floors will cause blemishes and unsound legs, especially in colts.

Using Traction Engine. A traction engine will do as much road work as a number of teams of farm work horses.

Good Roads in British Columbia. British Columbia reports that $4,000,000 has been expended on roads in the province in the last season.
